www.storyphones.co.uk

The StoryPhones System is the first complete MP3 digital audio system designed for use in primary schools.

This original idea of using MP3 players in Headsets together with a remote control was created by an Early Years teacher, with the aim of giving children a new way of listening to audio resources.

Now children can listen to stories, sing along to songs, join in listening games, learn a new language and even record their own stories to share in a simple, easy way.

listening for learning...

Eleanor Johnson, an Early Years teacher, set out to create a resource which would make listening as easy as possible for children aged 3 to 8. She wanted an MP3 digital audio player that would be robust, durable and without wires. The result was a totally original concept; StoryPhones, an MP3 digital audio system with a wide range of useful features. StoryPhones combines robust MP3 headsets, a loud-speaking MP3 player with recording facility and versatile software to manage player settings and your audio resource library.

To complete this digital audio solution Eleanor worked with many well known educational publishers to create BookShelf, the first MP3 download store for primary education.

The Headset

A child's Headset with built-in MP3 digital audio player

- Very robust - no moving parts to break off
- Foam pads that just won't pick off
- Easy to use controls
- Built-in rechargeable battery - easily replaced
- Unique automatic play and rewind feature
- Wire-free - no more tangled or messy wires
- Can be remotely controlled for group listening
- Designed for children aged 3 to 8

The Remote Console

A loud-speaking MP3 Player with record and remote control features

- Easy to use loud-speaking MP3 player
- Built-in microphone for recording
- Switch controlled for inclusive access
- Links with Headsets to become the remote control for group listening

"We placed books and props in baskets. The accompanying audio stories were loaded onto the StoryPhones Headsets and these were put in the baskets. Different story baskets were placed around the Nursery and the children were able to access these independently. The boys in particular were disappointed if the baskets weren't available and asked where they were." St Bede's CE Primary Academy, Bolton

What makes our MP3 players so different to others?

- Proven robustness - no moving parts to break
- Foam ear pads cannot be picked off
- Our Headsets can be personalised giving children access to the control buttons in a variety of ways
- The remote control feature works up to 30m, indoors and outside, and doesn't rely on line of sight
- The number of Headsets linked in remote control can be varied
- Switch control for accessibility
- Our rechargeable batteries are replaceable, giving you many years of use from your StoryPhones
- The child friendly software allows your children to add their own tracks to the MP3 players
- A fully integrated download store exclusive to StoryPhones
- Batteries charge within 2 hours

"We have two reception classes who use StoryPhones. They are very popular and often have children waiting to listen to a variety of stories and songs." Cockington Primary, Torbay

How will your children benefit from using StoryPhones?

BookShelf

BookShelf is the online store for StoryPhones. We have chosen the very best stories, songs and educational audio resources to be available as MP3 downloads from a wide range of publishers and content providers, including Walker Books, Oxford Reading Tree, Pearson Education and Yellow Door. The store is available exclusively through the BookShelf software which comes with your StoryPhones System.

The audio download store for StoryPhones®

Audio stories, songs, music, games and resources from major publishers, all in one place

All of our audio resources are digital, and here's why:

- No more lost or broken CDs or cassette tapes. All of the audio tracks are digital and stored on your computer.
- Your children can listen to different tracks at the same time using multiple StoryPhones players
- You can create play lists and use only the tracks you need for a planned activity
- No need for multiple copies of a CD. Digital audio allows you to play the same track in as many different locations as you like at the same time.

Buying resources from BookShelf is easy because:

- You can buy credit for your BookShelf account and avoid the use of credit cards or invoices for small purchases
- You will have a permanent link for your purchases on the store, should you ever need to download it again
- You will have instant access to an ever growing range of audio titles and resources
- For many audio tracks you can also buy the books through the online store

Over 2500 audio resources in the download store

NEW and exclusive to StoryPhones for 2012: Bug Club in MP3

Many of the audio resources in our store are exclusive to StoryPhones

You can buy titles from an ever growing range of leading publishers including:

LittleListener

The Little Listener is a robust, handheld loud speaking MP3 player. It provides an easy way for children to listen out loud to their favourite audio stories, songs and games, indoors and outside.

Features

- A loud-speaking MP3 player with built in rechargeable, replaceable batteries
- Record feature
- Switch accessible
- StoryPhones software with easy to use children's setting

"One of the children's favourite uses of the Little Listener is to use it to perform 'shows' for their friends, complete with costumes, singing, dancing and musical instruments. The children create their own performance area and put on these shows using the Little Listener."
South Stanley Infant School, Durham

With the Little Listener children can:

- Listen anywhere, indoors or outside
- Record their stories, thoughts and ideas
- Use audio resources for independent and child initiated activities
- Add their own favourite tracks to the player using child friendly software
